

You are invited to join in this opportunity to bring professionals and the community together to learn, share ideas and continue to grow in knowledge on the impact of Alzheimer and Dementia.

Detroit's Keith Famie* and his team takes an in-depth look at the history and future of research on this disease, which affects 5 million Americans. The video, "Those on the Front Lines of Alzheimer's and Dementia", help to bring the intricacies of this disease into focus. Mr. Famie has managed to capture some of the brightest minds, strongest stories and best resources from across the State of Michigan and the country. His personal story has spurred him on, he shares "I lost somebody – I have a vested interest in this story," he said. "I always vowed to one day do what I could to help families facing the same fate."
